As a fish fryer at Ferryhill Fish and Chips, I've taken on a multifaceted role, involving:
• Shop Preparation: Ensuring the shop is ready for the day, which includes stock checks, preparing potatoes, making sauces, and maintaining cleanliness.
• Fish Preparation: Handling tasks like cleaning and cutting fish.
• Operational Tasks: Responsibilities include maintaining fryer fat, handling cash tills, and managing change.
• Cooking Expertise: My primary role is cooking, where I've honed my culinary skills and communication abilities, working collaboratively with colleagues and serving customers during busy periods.
I take pride in my rapid progression from trainee to cook within a short time frame, all while contributing to the success of this well-established shop.

Software Developer
Yozu Ltd - Liverpool
September 2019 to December 2019

• Eagerly embraced the role of Junior Software Developer at a fast-growing software company during a short but impactful two-month term.
• Demonstrated a strong desire to learn and grow within the industry, despite the limited timeframe.
• Actively contributed to web development projects, gaining exposure to front-end technologies and development processes, such as Ruby on Rails, RSpec Testing, React Native and others .

• Engaged in a collaborative team environment and absorbed valuable insights from experienced colleagues.

NOTE: Overcome with stress due to family issues, and for the sake of my mental health, I had to make the difficult decision to leave this job prematurely and take a step back from my career.
